Subject: Recycling of Radioactive Waste—a public comment

'99 DEC 22 A9:03

Please enter this as a public comment and take my views into consideration. I have spoken to many people on the issue of radioactive waste recycling and everyone I have spoken to, from all walks of life, feels the same as I do—there is NO allowable amount of radioactive waste that can be recycled. It is not safe. If you conspire to recycle radioactive waste (metals etc.), then you are conspiring against the health and welfare of the people of this nation and are guilty of a traitorous and murderous act and violation of Constitutional and Federal Law(s). There is no allowable limit or method of recycling radioactivity for obvious reasons. Take this comment seriously.

Sincerely, Kathryn A. Barnes
