Dear NRC Chairman Richard Meserve...

Assuming the circulating email about this is not a hoax (a not-uncommon phenomenon on the net, alas), I am commenting about the NRC plan to sell radioactive waste to the scrap metal industry. They're kidding, right? This is completely irrational.

I travel by boat with a 24-hour data collection system, and one of the channels is radiation. This long-baseline observational data has made a bit more sensitive to numbers that might be considered down in the noise, and the last thing we need is more pervasive sources that are in regular close contact with humans.
