ASSISTANCE ACT OF 1999

1/24/00

On November 29, 1999, President Clinton signed into law the Consolidated Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 2000, Public Law 106-113. Incorporated into this omnibus legislation is the Foreign Relations Authorization Act for Fiscal Years 2000 and 2001. Division B of that authorization legislation was enacted as the "Arms Control, Nonproliferation, and Security Assistance Act of 1999" ("1999 Act").

Subtitle B of the 1999 Act amends existing law to impose generally more specific and stringent requirements on particular agencies, including the NRC, to report to Congress on certain nuclear export and non-proliferation activities. Attached for Commission review and approval is a draft All Employees Announcement to implement this new requirement.

To: All NRC Employees
SUBJECT: REPORTING REQUIREMENTS OF THE NUCLEAR NON-PROLIFERATION ACT

The Nuclear Nonproliferation Act of 1978, as amended ("NNPA"), requires the NRC and other executive branch agencies to keep the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and Governmental Affairs and the House Committee on International Relations "fully and currently" informed with respect to the following activities: 1) ~~the~~ <sup>the agencies'</sup> activities to carry out the purposes and policies of the NNPA and to otherwise prevent nuclear proliferation; and 2) the current activities of foreign nations which are of significance from the proliferation standpoint. The NRC and other identified agencies are required to transmit credible information on current activities of foreign nations which are of significance from the proliferation standpoint, including information contained in special access programs, not later than 60 days after becoming aware of the activity concerned.

This directive, mandated by recent legislation, is to notify NRC employees that all credible information with respect to the covered activities -- including information contained in special access programs -- that is a) generated by the NRC or b) received from an NRC licensee or an NRC license applicant must promptly be provided to the Director of the Office of International Programs, who shall in turn provide it to the Office of Congressional Affairs in sufficient time for the information to be provided to the appropriate congressional committees. These congressional reporting procedures will be incorporated in NRC's Management Directives.
