Gentlemen:

This letter will supplement the Application for Transfer and Amendment of License Number TR-2, Docket Number 50-022 ("Application") filed by CBS Corporation ("CBS") by letter from Louis J. Briskman, Executive Vice President and General Counsel of CBS to Mr. Samuel J. Collins of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission ("NRC") dated February 14, 2000. Attachment 1 to this letter is a list of directors and principal officers of Viacom as of the effective date of the merger, together with their addresses and citizenship. Enclosed with this letter is an executed copy of the letter from Viacom to the NRC confirming the agreement of Viacom to assume commitments, responsibilities and liabilities under the license to be transferred. (The form of this letter was included as Exhibit G to the Application.)

To provide financial assurance for decommissioning in accordance with NRC requirements, CBS previously has submitted to the NRC decommissioning financial assurance documents, consisting of Certifications of Financial Assurance, Irrevocable Standby Letters of Credit and Associated Standby Trust Agreements. (Letter dated March 30, 1999 from Mr. Joseph Nardi, Westinghouse Electric Company LLC to Mr. Louis M. Bykoski, Low Level Waste and Decommissioning Division of Waste Management, NMSS). Under the terms of the Standby Trust Agreement and Letters of Credit, and under applicable law, these documents, as applicable to the NRC licenses possessed by CBS, will remain valid and in force following the merger between CBS and Viacom. Specifically, under the Standby Trust Agreement, CBS is the "Grantor" and "Grantor" as defined in the Agreement as including "any successors or assigns of the Grantor." (Section 1. Definitions). As a result of the merger transaction, Viacom will be the successor to CBS and thus the Standby Trust Agreement will remain valid and in force after the merger. The Irrevocable Standby

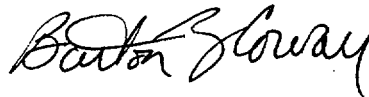

Letters of Credit are, by their terms, "irrevocable". They were issued "at the request and for the account of CBS." Thus, the Irrevocable Letters of Credit also remain valid and in force after the merger.

In footnote 1 on page 2 of the Application, CBS stated that under certain circumstances specified in the Merger Agreement, CBS would merge with and into Viacom/CBS LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Viacom, rather than with and into Viacom. Those circumstances have not materialized and thus the merger will be between CBS and Viacom.

As noted in the Application, there will be no changes in the operation, organization, location, facilities, equipment or procedures associated with the licensed activities as a result of the merger. There will be no changes in the use, possession, location or storage of the licensed material as a result of the merger. All licensed activities will continue to be maintained in their existing state in accordance with applicable requirements. All surveillance items and records will be transferred to Viacom on the effective date of the merger. Such transfer will not involve any physical relocation of any records. On the effective date of the merger, the status of the licensed facility, including but not limited to the status of decontamination and decommissioning activities, will be identical to its status prior to the effective date. There also will be no changes in the schedules for the activities being conducted under the license as a result of the merger.

If any further information is required, please contact me.

Very truly yours,

Barton Z. Cowan
Counsel to CBS Corporation
