Summary: In a letter dated April 18, 2008, INOVA Loudon requested that the Cs-137 brachytherapy sources be removed from their license. As part of their documentation they provided a letter from RAM Services, Inc. (Wisconsin License No. 071-1234-01) stating that the brachytherapy sources were received by them prior to permanent disposal. I called C. Rogers to confirm that RAM Services, Inc. was authorized to possess these materials. According to her, RAM Services is a waste broker authorized to possess Cs-137.
