STATEMENT OF WORK

TASK ORDER NO. 1 UNDER BPA ENTITLED

DESTINATIONS OF RELEASED PATIENTS FOLLOWING TREATMENT WITH IODINE-131, AND ESTIMATION DOSES TO MEMBERS OF THE PUBLIC AT LOCATIONS OTHER THAN CONVENTIONAL RESIDENCES RECEIVING SUCH PATIENTS

C.1 TASK ORDER 1 TITLE: ASSESSMENT OF WHERE PATIENTS RESIDE IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING RELEASE

The objective of this task is to determine where patients reside after being released from licensee care. "Licensee Care" can be defined as hospitals, medical centers or outpatient facility. The contactor shall gather what is the prevalence of patients going to locations other than their home, that is to say, hotels, nursing homes, and other institutional sites immediately following their release from the hospital or clinic after receiving radio-iodine treatment. The contractor shall collect information from outpatient clinics; community hospitals; and major medical centers in different regions of the country to ensure a reasonable distribution of facilities. The information collected should include:

- 1) How many patients received I-131 procedures requiring a written directive for the last 2 calendar years,
- 2) Whether the medical facility knew where the patients were going immediately after release,
- 3) How the facility knew, and the number of patients going to each type of destination.

The contractor shall assess the prevalence of all patients who received I-131 procedures and each patient must be counted regardless if the facility knew their final destination or not. (Note: Except under unusual situations where every individual's destination can be accounted for, recollection of the patient destination should be considered as unknown. If the facility knows the destination of its patients, then the collected information shall include the iodine dose administered during treatment, and, if known, the length of the time between dose administration and release, the length of stay at the hotel, nursing home, or other institutional setting. The hotels, nursing homes or other institutional settings used by released patients should be identified to assist in determining sites for the field measurements needed for Task 2 and to determine whether specific hotels are most frequently used by patients released from specific facilities. This task would also involve identifying nursing homes, care facilities, and other institutional sites to which patients reside after treatment, and determine if the facility has in place radiation protection and safety procedures. In addition, for those patients that were not returning to their home immediately after treatment, the task would also involve determining what, if any, additional instructions were given to the patient before their release.

The contractor shall start gathering the data from the individuals who are responsible for releasing patients at each treatment facility. The contractor shall use appropriate methods to gather reliable statistical data on the prevalence of the practice of not going home immediately following release, and if possible, an estimate of the lengths of stay at the alternative residences by conducting such as interviews with an adequate number of hospitals and clinics that provide iodine treatments. The total number of treatment locations surveyed should ensure a reasonable geographic and facility size distribution. The data should be collected for the last two (2) calendar years at each treatment location. A sufficiently large number of patients should be identified that went to locations other than their home or a family member's home after their release to ensure a statistically reliable sample. The contractor shall contact the COR if they encounter any difficulties in obtaining the data.

In this task every effort should be made to determine the activity administered to the patient and the elapsed time between administration and occupancy at the alternative residence.

DELIVERABLES/SCHEDULES AND/OR MILESTONES

The contractor shall submit reports according to the deliverable schedule.. Due dates are listed for drafts and final versions of the reports. The contractor shall prepare and submit a detailed milestone schedule (GANNT Chart) for work to be performed and the preparation and submission of the required documentation. The contractor shall also submit the contract deliverables and reports to the NRC COR and Contracting Officer (CO); the NRC COR will review the deliverables and reports. The NRC COR will transmit review comments, which the contractor shall address by either changing the report or incorporating the comments, or by providing an official rebuttal to the comments.
